Our Story

Stratus Financial is a company that was founded in the year 2020 by FAA certified flight and ground instructors in the middle of a COVID pandemic.

The aviation industry was facing unprecedented challenges due to the pandemic where flight schools and student pilots alike were struggling to find the funding they needed to continue their training. Recognizing this need, the founders created Stratus Financial that was fully geared to marry student success with several programs designed by flight schools for flight schools.

Through hard work and dedication, Stratus Financial was able to fill the demand for flight instruction through student pilots' success and instructional funding. This success lead to fast traction for the company. Today, Stratus has partnered with flight schools across the US and has produced pilots across all certifications. Stratus is dedicated to helping aspiring pilots achieve their dreams by providing them with the necessary resources and support to succeed in their flight training.

Our mission is to provide our students with the best possible flight training experience and to help them achieve their dreams of becoming a pilot.
